Striving For Excellence In Athletics

Graduates of Cedarville College are well-prepared to excel in their chosen fields. This certainly holds true for those athletes who grace our campus for four years and then move on, continuing to improve and compete at higher levels. They fervently pursue excellence in their respective sports, making it a part of their lifestyle. These athletes are Cedarville College alumni—men and women with talents and achievements in sports ranging from running to racewalking.

Rob Moore '88 specializes in running road races like the 5k and 10k. Currently, Moore is a part of Athletes In Action and enjoys the numerous opportunities for witness in many parts of the nation. "Athletes around the country know about Athletes In Action. We have a reputation as excellent athletes, but more importantly as a witness for Christ."

Moore's achievements include many top finishes in marathons around Ohio. In a 1993 Columbus marathon, he was the second from the state of Ohio to finish. In another 10k race, he posted a time of 30:36. Moore has competed in the same road race in Muskegon, Michigan for many years and has won the race for the past eight years. Other accomplishments include appointments to NAIA and NCCAA All-American teams in track and cross country, as well as holding a Cedarville record in the outdoor 1,500 meter run.

Moore states that he likes to see improvements in his ability to race and this is a source of motivation for him. "I'm real competitive when it comes to running, and I like to see if I can beat my previous time in a particular race."

Chad Eder is a senior finance major at Cedarville College who specializes in racewalking. Chad's racewalking career began a couple of years ago when Coach Tim Walters '89N noticed how well Eder racewalked around the track. Walters suggested that Eder seriously look into the event and compete at the collegiate level. Eder has been a runner ever since junior high school and presently competes on the cross country team at Cedarville.

Eder racewalks nine months a year. In racewalking, the standard distance is 20km (12.4 miles). He walks every day—around 50 to 70 miles per week—and says that the racewalking stride, which is difficult to master, came very naturally to him. Eder's goal is to compete in the 1996 Olympic Trials.

In his first year of racewalking, Eder made the NAIA national championships at Vancouver, British Columbia. In 1994, he competed in the USATF indoor mobile circuit, on the same level as athletes like Jackie Joiner Kersey and Jane Romig Brooker '86. Also in 1994, Eder earned NAIA All-American honors in the 5,000 meter race walk. Eder took third place at the 1994 NAIA nationals in Azusa, California.

Chad cites the encouragement of the Cedarville coaches as key in his success as a racewalker. "Racewalking is a very enjoyable sport for me. I am thankful to Coach Tim Walters '89N who got me started in racewalking, and also to Coach Paul Orchard who is very supportive."

Jane Romig Brooker '86 is also a cross country and track specialist. Brooker explains that her entrance into the sport of running was the "result of her general lack of athletic ability!" At Cedarville, a friend watched her easily run a required one and a half mile fitness run and suggested that Brooker pursue running as a sport. Now, Brooker is pursuing her dream as she trains for the 1996 U.S. Olympic Trials.

Brooker has a long list of accomplishments and is thankful for her coach, who happens to be her husband. "My husband, Scott ['86], is the mastermind behind it all. He is my motivation and support." One of her most significant achievements was last year's induction into the NAIA Hall of Fame—Brooker is the first track & field female athlete in the country to be honored as such. Brooker is also a member of the Cedarville College Athletic Hall of Fame, holds seven school records, and earned numerous NAIA and NCCAA awards. Brooker states that the Lord has taught her much through running. "There are times that I am really feeling the pressure. In this sport, you are only as good as your last race. But I know that athletics is not equal to my self-esteem."

This issue of Inspire focuses on the alumni-athletes of Cedarville College. These individuals represent just a sample of the wide range of talents of Cedarville College alumni.

Passing The Racquet

Dr. Murray Murdoch and Alan Edlund

Cedarville's most successful team over the years in terms of wins/losses has been men's tennis. In the 28 years of Dr. Murray Murdoch's tenure as tennis coach, his teams have amassed an impressive 563-63 win/loss total for an .892 winning percentage. His teams won 23 NAIA District 22 and Mid-Ohio Conference championships.

After the 1994 season, Dr. Murdoch '88H, chair of the Department of Social Sciences and History and professor of history, stepped down as tennis coach and has passed the racquet, so to speak, to Alan Edlund '77.

Alan and Murray continue a long-time friendship which began many years ago. Murray recruited Alan for tennis back in the '70s, and Alan coached Cedarville reserve tennis teams for about ten years after he graduated. Before that, Henry Murdoch, Murray's father, pastored First Baptist Church of Harvey, Illinois, where Alan accepted Christ during Vacation Bible School as a child. When Alan was nine, Murray was Alan's interim pastor at First Baptist and later was interim at Cornerstone Baptist Church in Springfield, Ohio, when Alan started taking his family there. The two men have stayed in contact and have played doubles tennis and in leagues together.

Both Murray and Alan expect the Cedarville tennis team to have a good season, even though five of last year's top six players are not back. The squad met for practice during fall quarter and will play teams in Tennessee during spring break before starting scheduled matches spring quarter. The team has an international flavor with Marcus Varotti from Brazil; Todd Entner and Jeff Nelson, MK's from the Philippines; and Brooke Taylor, whose father was an Air Force chaplain and traveled extensively with his family.

Alan is impressed with the spiritual attitude of the team. "The best thing is the Christlike attitude everyone seems to portray on the court," he says. "I'm looking forward to the

Fite Gets A Kick Out Of Ministry

Tom Fite '86 tallied a long list of awards and achievements while playing soccer for

Cedarville College. He was named the most valuable player in 1985 and named an NAIA

All American (1st team) in the same year. But he wanted to do more with soccer than just play the sport and create impressive stats. Following graduation from Cedarville, Tom played with several professional indoor soccer teams, including the Dayton Dynamo. While the professional indoor experience provided Tom an opportunity to use his soccer skills, it provided little opportunity for ministry. In an effort to combine his soccer talents and his desire to share the message of Jesus Christ, he became affiliated with Missionary Athletes International. MAI is an organization that uses soccer as a tool to proclaim the Gospel to people around the world.

Tom and his wife, Meg (Irving '89N), and their children, Atalie (3) and Seth (1), are currently living in Bolton, England where they have a multifaceted ministry with Ambassadors in Sport, MAI's England-based ministry team. His ministries in England include conducting soccer schools, leading Bible studies, and witnessing to the teams against which the Ambassadors in Sport team competes. In 1994, Tom's team not only won three championships, but was awarded the Sportsmanship Award in a league of 60 teams. This past summer, Tom was involved in an outreach ministry of campus and clinics held in conjunction with the World Cup which was hosted by the United States.

This spring, the Fite family will travel with Ambassadors in Sport to Bangladesh and India. The Ambassadors will play matches against some of the best teams in those countries and share the message of Jesus Christ with those who attend the games. In addition to ministries in several European countries, MAI traveled to Bangladesh and India in 1992.

Tom is an outstanding example of one who is using his God-given talents and abilities as an evangelistic tool and as a means to build into the lives of believers.

Maryalyce Jeremiah Paves The Way In Women's Athletics

Women's intercollegiate basketball has grown from the fledgling stage to a sport that is gathering interest nationwide, and no one has done more to help develop the women's game than Dr. Maryalyce Jeremiah '65. Now the Senior Woman Athletic Administrator at California State University at Fullerton, she was present in the formative years of women's basketball three decades ago when colleges were just beginning to form varsity programs. As a successful coach, author, and lecturer, she has established herself as one of the foremost authorities in women's basketball.

Jeremiah was a winner at all four stops during her 23-year coaching career which ended in 1992 with a 375-236 record. She coached from 1970 through 1978 at Cedarville College where she led the Lady Jackets to the OASW state title in 1973. She then moved on to the University of Dayton where she paced the Lady Flyers to a 69-5 record in two years, which included the 1980 AIAW Division II national title.

The next challenge for Jeremiah came at Indiana University in Bloomington from 1980 through 1985 where the Hoosiers garnered a Big Ten co-championship in 1983, after which she was tabbed Big Ten Coach of the Year. Jeremiah wrapped up her coaching career at Cal State Fullerton (1985-92) where she led the Titans to two trips to the NCAA tournament. She was named Big West Conference Coach of the Year in 1991 upon leading CSF to a 25-8 record.

Jeremiah, who has authored two books on women's basketball, earned the highest honor in 1990 when she received the coveted Carol Eckman Award. It is presented annually by the Women's Basketball Coaches Association to the coach who best represents sportsmanship and ethics in the coaching profession.

Alumni Work With Professional Sports

Cedarville College graduates are working with professional sports organizations in "the front office." Three of them are with teams here in Ohio.

When Dave Slyby's teaching job in a Springfield, Ohio school fell through, the 1987 grad went home to Wilmington, Ohio to work at the Cincinnati Bengals training camp as he had every summer since he was 15 years old. Bengals owner Mike Brown offered him a full-time job as assistant video director. Dave learned the cameras and began to help film and edit all practices and games.

Dave has assumed additional responsibilities in the Bengals organization. He still films road games, but he now runs the training camp in Wilmington. As entertainment director for the Bengals, Dave scripts out every detail of each home game for the teams and the media, from pregame and half-time activities to the scoreboard announcements and promotions. As assistant public relations director, he sets up conference calls for group media interviews with the Bengals and gives game and team information to National Football League broadcasting teams.

While Dave's English major has helped him in his work with the Bengals, he adds, "Cedarville College taught me more than just my discipline. I learned the work ethic and stability. And I saw how the Lord really opened the door for me vocationally."

He met his wife, Kelly, at Tri County Baptist Church in Cincinnati. They married in 1994 and live in Mason, Ohio.

Two other alumni are working with professional sports organizations in Cleveland.

"My education at Cedarville allowed me to get into a master's program in sports administration [Kent State University] which opened the door to my affiliation with the Cleveland Browns," says Fred Greetham '79, who graduated with a physical education major and broadcasting minor.

Following an internship with the Browns training camp, Fred did some coaching and teaching in Scottsdale, Arizona and at Grand Canyon College. He returned to the Browns as feature writer and then editor of Browns News Illustrated for several years. He recently relinquished that responsibility to start an electronic information service about the Browns, called the Cleveland Sports Report. Subscribers can receive daily information on what's happening in the Browns organization through a link to a network bulletin board or by FAX.

Fred has other responsibilities in the Browns' front office, including providing stats for the Browns radio network and for national broadcasters, setting up interviews for the media, writing for the local newspapers, writing the game day program, and doing stats for road games.

Fred enjoys biweekly Bible study with Christians in the front offices of Cleveland's Cavaliers (CAVS) and Indians.

He and his wife, Joyce (Willets '80), have three children and live in Wellington, Ohio.

Tim Birch, group sales coordinator for the CAVS, is also a member of the front office Bible study. After graduating from Cedarville in 1990 with a degree in communications, he joined the Cleveland Crunch, a professional indoor soccer team, as account executive. He soon had charge of group sales and game operations. The CAVS approached him in fall 1992 to become group sales coordinator for their organization.

Tim also works closely with several sports marketing agencies across the country in ticket promotions for other events held at the CAVS' new 20,500 seat Gund Arena. In its first year of operation, Gund has hosted, besides the CAVS games, IHL Lumberjacks games, professional tennis matches, skating championships, college basketball, the Harlem Globetrotters, big-name concerts and artists, the Disney World on Ice, a circus, and a rodeo. Gund is part of downtown Cleveland's "Gateway," a new 28-acre sports and entertainment complex.

"I think Cedarville graduates can be very comfortable in saying where they went to college," says Tim. "My education prepared me for the future and has proven to be as strong as or stronger than what I've seen in grads from major universities." Tim and his wife, Debi, are expecting their first child and live in Avon Lake, Ohio.

From The Director's Chair

Sports are a mystery to me. Eye-hand coordination I don't have, nor will I ever develop it well enough to hit a racquetball, golf ball, or softball. I dislike jogging; I know the minimum of basketball rules; and the bodily harm possible in football has set the ground rule for our son's participation—no football!

But I do understand the benefits from the camaraderie of participating on a team, the discipline that practice develops, and the value of lifelong friendships that are made. Many alumni tell me that they will never forget their experience as students in athletics at Cedarville. And alumni continue to demonstrate their support for Cedarville College athletics through participation in alumni sporting events (volleyball, basketball, tennis, baseball, and soccer all have annual alumni games), through support of the Yellow Jackets Club, and through encouraging the current sporting teams.

This issue of Inspire highlights many of our alumni who continue to use their athletic ability today. Some are athletic directors, others are sharing the gospel of Jesus Christ through sports. We hope you enjoy this issue and that you are brought up-to-date on the athletic programs at Cedarville College.

You will also find highlights from Alumni Basketball Weekend. Even though the men's and women's varsity games with Shawnee State University were cancelled due to bad weather, the alumni—men and women—had a great time competing. About 200 alums enjoyed watching those games and the pizza dinner that followed.

It's good to be back in the office after three months of maternity leave and I look forward to serving you during 1995.

Your Alumni Council!

Sandra Holwerda Schlappi '75 lives in Cedarville, Ohio and represents over 500 alumni in the college town. An avid fan of Lady Yellow Jacket basketball, Sandy coached women's basketball at Cedarville College from 1978 to 1982. She has already found a niche on the council by assisting with the implementation of Alumni Basketball Weekend and encouraging alumni players to return to the hardwood. Sandy currently teaches seventh grade science, math, and health at Roosevelt Middle School in Springfield, Ohio. Sandy and her husband, Dan '77N, have three children and attend Southgate Baptist Church in Springfield. Sandy will serve as the Alumni Council Secretary in 1996.

Angela Cooke '84 resides in Burlington, Vermont and serves the student body at the University of Vermont as assistant director of multicultural affairs. Angela is pursuing her doctoral degree at the university as well. Angela brings her expertise in multicultural student relations to campus and enjoyed co-hosting her ten year class reunion at Homecoming 1994. Angela enjoys aerobics, cooking, and travel.

Sherry Rotramel Bouquet '87 has served one year on the Alumni Council, involving herself in hosting alumni gatherings and developing an alumni survey and a regional network among alumni. Sherry enjoys her work as a development consultant with Continuous Improvement Technologies, a job which she performs at home while caring for a son, André. Sherry's husband, John, is the pastor of Bethel Baptist Church in Ashland, Ohio. John and Sherry are expecting their second child in May.

Stefanie Pratt Wimmer '85 (not pictured) serves as secretary for the Alumni Council and completes her four-year term in 1995. Her accurate minutes keep the council on schedule and up-to-date! A resident of Fairborn, Ohio, Stefanie represents over 400 alumni in the Dayton, Ohio region. She is employed at Wright Patterson Air Force Base as a supplies technician for national purchasing, and her husband, Alan, attends Wright State University. Stefanie has been a member of the nominations committee for new Alumni Council members and chaired the committee for the past two years.

Captain Daniel Hicks '78 is fulfilling his second year on the Alumni Council and serves as chair elect. Dan lends his expertise in statistical analysis to his work on the council and brings a willingness to lend a hand in any situation. In August 1994, Dan and his family (Jeanne Pippin '78 and four children) moved to Shawnee, Oklahoma, when he was transferred to the headquarters at Tinker Air Force Base in Oklahoma City. He works in an executive-level management development program called the Logistics Career Broadening Program. Dan and his family are members of Immanuel Baptist Church.

Rodney Lane '64 serves as superintendent of schools for the Clinton County Board of Education. As one of the newest members of the Alumni Council, Rodney travels from Blanchester, Ohio to attend the meetings and represents over 400 alumni in his geographical area. Rod and his wife, Barbara, have two children—Beth White, a 1993 Cedarville graduate, and Todd, who is currently a junior, a member of the varsity basketball team, and a biology major at Cedarville College. Rod is very active in his community and with the College. He looks forward to his work on the student relations committee of the council.

DeMaurice Smith '85 chairs the Alumni Council and is serving his third year on the board. De has demonstrated leadership in proposing the establishment of the Young Alumni Awards, restructuring the Alumni Association Constitution, hosting regional alumni gatherings, and developing regional coordinators for the Alumni Association. De has also been involved in speaking to current students interested in a law career, meeting with Iota Chi Phi (Cedarville's student organization to promote cultural awareness), and speaking in chapel. De and his wife, Karen, live in Kensington, Maryland just outside of Washington, D.C. and are expecting their first child in September. De is an Assistant United States Attorney in the District of Columbia, and Karen is a CPA.

Dr. Robert Foreman '77 is professor of English at Pasadena City College and will complete his service on the Alumni Council at the end of this year. He has lent his skill to the Alumni Association by spearheading the development of the alumni survey which was mailed to 1,400 alumni in 1994—a tool which prompted 750 alumni to respond! Bob also enjoys teaching at Cedarville College. He brings his expertise in African and American literature to several literature classes throughout the year. Bob lives in the Los Angeles, California area and has hosted an annual Cedarville College alumni gathering in the area since 1992.

The Cedarville College Spiritual Heritage Tour Of England And Scotland

July 14-29, 1995

Enjoy! The excitement of London. The beauty and serenity of the countryside. The stately buildings and rich history.

Experience! Spiritual highlights associated with our Christian heritage—the homes and churches of such giants of the faith as John Knox, John Bunyan, and the Wesleys; visit Spurgeon's Metropolitan Tabernacle in London; and sing "Amazing Grace" in the hometown of its author, John Newton.

Appreciate! First class or deluxe hotels; hearty English cuisine; available academic or C.E.U. credit.

Dr. James McGoldrick, professor of history at Cedarville College and an authority on British church history, will add his insights in a lively and informative manner.

Dr. Martin Clark, vice president for development at Cedarville, will serve as your tour host.

Plan now to join this quality, value-filled tour.

Call the Development Office
513-766-7810
for more information.

"The purpose of the Alumni Association shall be the promotion of the interests of Cedarville College and the provision of Christian fellowship, information, education, and service opportunities to the glory of God."

Alumni Association News

Hamilton, McGhee Complete Service On Alumni Council

Mike Hamilton '68 and Yvonna Cope McGhee '73 joined the Alumni Council in 1990. Quickly finding their niche on the council, both members jumped into serving the Alumni Association wholeheartedly. During the December 2 and 3, 1994 meeting, we bid farewell to Mike and Yvonna as they fulfilled their four-year terms on the Alumni Council.

Mike chaired the Alumni Council and led the board in increasing association awareness, bettering communication, and developing innovative programs. His enthusiasm for class reunions encouraged many from his class to attend the 25 year reunion at Homecoming '93. Mike and his wife, Carol (Simonetti '68), live in Atlanta, Georgia, where Mike is regional manager for ESKCO, Inc. Mike and Carol have three sons and one daughter. The Hamilton family attends First Baptist Church of Snellville.

Yvonna and Richard '75 live in the Indianapolis, Indiana area, where Rich is an associate pastor at Bethesda Baptist Church. Yvonna undertook many projects for the Alumni Association, including planning regional gatherings, reworking the handbook for organizing reunions and gatherings, and helping organize her 20 year class reunion at Homecoming '93. Yvonna's encouraging words and faithful support were a great benefit to the council members. Yvonna homeschools her two children and is active at Bethesda Baptist in the youth and career ministry.

Our thanks and appreciation are extended to Mike and Yvonna. Our deepest gratitude for your faithful service to the Alumni Association during the past four years!

Your Nomination Is Needed For The Young Alumnus Of The Year!

In 1993, the Cedarville College Alumni Council unanimously approved the addition of the Young Alumnus of the Year Award to be presented during Homecoming festivities. This award is given to specifically honor younger alumni who have distinguished themselves personally or professionally.

Norris Smith '63

Baseball Coach. Education: B.S., Cedarville College, 1963; M.Ed., Kent State University, 1971. At Cedarville since 1992.

The Cedarville College soccer team will not soon forget Christmas 1994. On December 10, seven soccer players, alumnus Roger Swigart '90, travel host George Weber, and Coach John McGillivray '70 traveled halfway around the world to spend their holiday in Bangladesh. Although the political and religious climate did not permit preaching, the team's goal was to be a witness for Christ through their style of play against local village teams. Missionary kids and their friends enjoyed a Cedarville College soccer clinic in Chittagong, and Bengali boys sharpened their skills in a second clinic in Malumghat. The team also participated in church services by sharing testimony and occasionally providing special music.

Jim Phipps '68 has spent the past 30 years as the "voice of Yellow Jacket basketball" on the CDR Radio Network. He has been present for nearly every game, home and away, since he hit the airwaves while a student at Cedarville in the mid-60s.

Alumni Profiles

Dautel Directs Fairborn Athletics

When Joan Dautel '70 became athletic director for the Fairborn (Ohio) City Schools in July 1994, she was told there was one other woman holding a similar position in the Dayton area.

Although Joan had coached athletics at Fairborn High School for 24 years, she now looks at the athletic arena from a different perspective. "When I was a coach," she says, "it was game plans and schedules. Now it's administration, public relations, finances, encouraging academic responsibility, eligibility questions, and transfer students. "We have a great coaching staff—close to 70—for 17 sports, including 54 squads from varsity down through seventh and eighth grade," she continues.

Advancing through the system grounded Joan in the philosophy of sports at Fairborn. "Fairborn has never put the emphasis on winning games," she states. "Coaches are hired as role models and to teach the fundamentals. In this district, the emphasis is on academics. As a result, we have one of the highest grade point requirements for eligibility in the area. And we had 20 students recognized on the league All-Academic team, the highest number of any school in the league."

Joan grew up in Portsmouth, Ohio, a city that continues to supply Cedarville College with athletes.

Her father was one of the first trustees of the College when its Baptist affiliation began in 1953. When he took a church in Harvey, Illinois, Joan attended a junior college there, then transferred to Cedarville to finish her undergraduate work. With a health and physical education/history and government double major, she student-taught at Fairborn spring quarter of her senior year and was offered a teaching contract before she graduated.

"Cedarville College taught me to study," says Joan. "The academic standards were high. Going to Wright State University for a master's degree in history was easier than going through Cedarville."

As a rookie teacher at Fairborn High School, Joan taught physical education courses, then was assigned social science and history classes. She quickly got into coaching volleyball and softball. "I loved coaching because of the competition and the strategy," she says. The volleyball teams did well with three district championships in four years, one regional runner-up, and one league championship.

Joan likes the political process. She was elected and served on the Fairborn City Council for seven years, three of those years as deputy mayor, a position she relinquished when she became athletic director.

For the past five years, Joan has taught History of Recent and Contemporary America for the Department of Social Sciences and History at Cedarville.

In the rare times she can claim for herself, she enjoys reading, golf, and counted cross-stitch. Baseball is her favorite sport. "I don't have to be at the spring events, but I'll probably be down at the baseball field," she admits.

A longtime member of Grand Heights Baptist Church, she has served as treasurer and choir member. She and about 20 other staff of the high school meet once a month for prayer and devotions over breakfast. A student Bible club numbering 20 to 30 students meets every morning before school for devotions in the library or a teacher's office.

Joan Dautel has demonstrated professional excellence, a good reputation in her school and community, and a testimony for Jesus Christ in a significant environment.

Joan Dautel '70 has worn many hats: high school teacher, coach, and athletic director; city council member and deputy mayor; and adjunct professor at Cedarville College.

Hobars Go To Bat For The Gospel

If Ron Hobar's ('82) baseball career at Cedarville had to be summed up in one word, that word might be "variety."

As a freshman, Ron played third base, pitched, and was a designated hitter. By his senior year, he was the starting shortstop, having also spent significant time at first base and second base.

"Variety" also describes Ron's current ministry as executive director of Athletes in Action Baseball. Ron joined AIA's college team to Asia as an umpire in 1985. The trip confirmed that God was leading him and his wife, Linda, to join the AIA Baseball staff. "God designed my college career to prepare me for this ministry," Ron says. "Everything I learned at Cedarville is helpful to me now—the education integrating Scripture, my major in speech communications, involvement in extracurriculars like Pi Sigma Nu and the Advisory Seven, the solid teaching in the chapel services, the unofficial mentoring from professors and Harold Green. Even my minor in broadcasting has helped as I've edited videos for the participants at our baseball fantasy camp."

The Hobars' ministry took them to Orlando, Florida from Colorado Springs, Colorado two years ago when the AIA Baseball headquarters moved to be closer to more baseball action. Linda has a ministry of discipleship with the other staff wives and neighbors, as well as her ministry to the three Hobar children, Heather (9), Kyle (6), and Ashley (2). Two other couples comprise the rest of the AIA Baseball staff, reaching children and adults around the world with the gospel of Christ.

For many years, AIA Baseball, a branch of Campus Crusade for Christ, has organized teams of Christian college baseball players to travel to other countries in sports evangelism. Ron has visited 24 countries in this ministry. The AIA teams play national teams, university and club teams, and even pro teams in other countries. They use competition and baseball clinics to attract an audience for gospel presentations. Ron shares, "Perhaps our most effective witnessing comes with the host families as the players share in the homes where they stay."

AIA Baseball has recently turned its attention to America's spiritual needs, as well. Last summer, Ron and the staff organized seven Youth Baseball Schools for city kids ages 8 to 17. Local baseball coaches emphasized character traits such as discipline, loyalty, and sacrifice. They showed the campers how these traits make a better baseball player, then closed each day with an evangelistic "dugout devotional," which many parents also attended.

"We held our second fantasy camp this winter," Ron states. "Like many other baseball fantasy camps, ours allows men to learn from and play with the pros. But we add an evening conference with a Bible speaker. The men get to live out a boyhood dream, but they also meet pros who have a commitment to Christ."

Ron Hobar enjoyed playing at the AIA Baseball Fantasy Camp, as well as organizing it.

Branon Lives Sports Through Writing

Dave Branon '73 always loved athletics, and he always had a desire to write. He has been able to couple those two ambitions as both an author and as managing editor of Sports Spectrum magazine.

Branon, who played basketball at Cedarville from 1969 through 1973, recently published his third book, Slam Dunk—Winning Players Talk About Basketball, Family, and Faith. The Moody Press publication profiles Christians in the NBA, past and present. "The book is a tribute to my favorite player, Pete Maravich," Dave said. "I was so excited that he was willing to study the Bible and be a missionary for the Lord. Yet, I learned the same thing under Don Callan '84H at Cedarville. I dedicated the book to Coach Callan because of his interest in basketball evangelism, and I felt the need to honor him for his work in missions."

Branon has also written a similar book about baseball and another book that is geared toward helping young Christians grow. "I really have more of a desire to write general interest books," Dave revealed. "I have three other books that are unpublished, but I want to continue writing."

Branon's route to becoming involved with Sports Spectrum began in 1981 when he left teaching and coaching to become the assistant editor of Our Daily Bread at Radio Bible Class in Grand Rapids, Michigan. "I always wanted to be a writer, so I jumped at the opportunity," he explained. "I eventually kept changing jobs at RBC. I was the editor of Discovery Digest in the mid-80s and then became the first editor of Campus Journal in early 1990."

Then came Branon's break with Sports Spectrum. Radio Bible Class had been associated with a sports magazine called New Focus that was based in California. RBC decided to bring the magazine in-house during the summer of 1990. Branon was named managing editor, and his first suggestion was to change the name to Sports Spectrum. "Each issue of New

Focus carried a theme, but we wanted Sports Spectrum to be a general interest magazine. We want to feature people who carry a national interest. We are always refining it—making changes to keep it looking fresh." When asked what the overriding purpose of Sports Spectrum is, Branon simply claims, "Evangelism. We want to attract the attention of sports fans who don't necessarily know the Lord. We want them to investigate the claims of Christ through athletics, yet for our Christian readers, we want to help them grow."

Branon reveals a similar style in his books and states that his writing philosophy was developed during his college years. "I received my perspective of Christianity at Cedarville. My background in Bible training plus my entire college experience helped me to write intellectually. The training I received under Coach Callan was invaluable. I learned that basketball and athletics could be used for more than just personal enjoyment. Cedarville was the springboard for what I am doing today."

Dave and his wife, Sue (Tuttle '74N), met at Cedarville College and have four children. Their daughter, Lisa (18), is a freshman music education major at Cedarville. The couple's other children are Julie (14), Melissa (10), and Steven (8).

Basketball games at Cedarville offer many familiar sights—the pep band, the “bee,” the cheerleaders. But there are no more familiar faces than those of Dr. Shirley Schneider '86H and Mrs. Nedra Callan '84H at the scorer's table. For the past 25 years, the two women have assisted Coach Callan by keeping detailed statistics at every Yellow Jacket game. Dr. Callan says, “They're invaluable to me. They were here before we had a sports information director, and their faithfulness gives a real consistency to the scorekeeping. All the officials across the state know them by name.”

For the past 12 years, Cedarville College has hosted the Greene County Special Olympics. In 1994, over 220 athletes participated with enthusiasm. Kurtis Summerville '88 became involved with the program as a student volunteer, and today acts as the area director for Special Olympics, overseeing nine counties in Ohio. Kurtis shares that winning is not the most rewarding aspect in recreational activities. “What I like to see,” he conveys, “is growth—each athlete achieving a goal set at the beginning of the season, even if it is just to make one basket during the season.” The 1995 Greene County Special Olympics will be held on Cedarville's campus May 20.

Heritage Corner

Did You Know?

Cedarville's most successful athletic squad in the early 1900's was the women's basketball team. One of the first women's teams in the area, the “Lady Jackets” enjoyed an undefeated season in 1910-11. They defeated a Miami University team that had not lost a game in nine years, and brought home the unofficial “state championship” to Cedarville!

The greatest defeat in Cedarville's sports history is one for the record books. On November 19, 1931, the Cedarville College football team lost to the West Liberty Teachers by a score of 137-0! The shameful drubbing attracted the attention of national radio personality Lowell Thomas, and to this day ranks as the worst college football loss ever.

Before the turn of the century, colleges commonly drew upon available, able-bodied young men for their athletic teams, even those who weren't students. Thus it happened that perhaps the only person to have ever played baseball for both Cedarville College and a major league team was never a student at the school. Charles “Bumpus” Jones quit school in the fourth grade, but he became a legend for his pitching feats—like the time he joined the Cedarville squad for a game at West Jefferson and struck out 27 straight batters.

Hearing of the small-town wonder, the Cincinnati Reds signed Bumpus in time for him to pitch the last game of the 1892 season. He threw a no-hitter in his major league debut, beating Pittsburgh 7-1 on October 15. Bumpus had little success the next season, and was soon out of baseball. But his feat of hurling a no-hitter in his first major league game has been equaled by only one other pitcher, “Bobo”

Holoman, who did it for the St. Louis Browns in 1953. Charles “Bumpus” Jones was buried in 1938 in North cemetery, next to the Cedarville College campus.

The Santa Clarita Signal newspaper in California ranked Yellow Jacket Assistant Basketball Coach Pete Reese '60 among the Top 75 sports legends in the past 75 years. He was rated No. 9 for his 23 years of tireless work at Los Angeles Baptist College, now The Master's College.

This team set more than 15 new records during the season. Posting an overall record of 25-4 and a tournament record of 9-3, the Yellow Jackets won the NAIA District 22 playoffs and went on to Kansas City for the national tournament. What year is it? Can you name each team member? The first five alumni to answer correctly will receive a Cedarville College T-shirt, compliments of the Alumni Association. CALL TODAY at 1-800-837-2566.

BASKETB

Current varsity player El Seabra and his wife, Kara; Undergraduate Alumni Association members Jodie Enterkin and Jeff Blackburn; and alumni Dan '87 and Donna Snyder Morris '87 get acquainted during the Yellow Jacket brunch.

Fifteen alumni players from 1969 to 1993 provided a thrilling contest with a final score of 116 to 115!

Players eagerly anticipate the rebound from Michael Minto's foul shot. Michael '90 made the trip from New Jersey to be a part of the basketball festivities.

Jaden Callahan '93 hangs from the rim as he dunks for points.

Cathy Bunton '78, Kim Gall '78, and other alumni enjoyed a reception with pizza, chips, and cookies following the day's competition.

Jane Adams Smith '84 and Joyce Felker Bos '84 enjoy renewing their friendship.

Recent alums enjoy the fun of Alumni Basketball Weekend. Almost 200 alumni returned to campus despite the bad weather and cancelled varsity games.

Dr. Tony Evans, pastor of Oak Cliff Bible Fellowship and director of The Urban Alternative Ministries, preached his final message of the Winter Enrichment Conference in the dark. When a power outage blackened the campus buildings, faculty and students who planned to view the service in satellite auditoriums by video flooded into the chapel to fill every available seat, sit on the steps to the platform, and listen from doorways and the lobbies. Without the assistance of the sound system, Dr. Evans exhorted his audience with examples of the power and authority God makes available to His children. The electric power coming on an hour later was anticlimactic.

Li'l Sibbs Weekend on February 3-4 brought the influx of over 800 visiting brothers, sisters, and parents of Cedarville College students to campus. Activities included late night roller skating, a baseball card show, a Shakespeare film festival, Yellow Jacket basketball action against Rio Grande, open gym, the film "Rise & Walk: The Dennis Byrd Story," and a concert by Called 4.

BALL Weekend

Assistant to the President Cliff Johnson '87H and Academic Vice President Duane Wood join in the fun of the traditional half-time free throw contest.

Seventeen alumnae players returned for competition on the hardwood. The final score—White 73, Blue 46.

The blue and the white teams go for the first possession.

Kristine Deshetsy Bickel '94 jumps high for the rebound.

The Board of Trustees has approved the following promotions: Dr. Dan Estes '74 to professor of Bible, Dr. David Robey to professor of communication arts; Dr. James Colman to associate professor of music, Deborah Bush Haffey '68 to associate professor of communication arts, Dr. Brian Kennedy '85 to associate professor of English, Robert Laramore to associate professor of electrical engineering, and Dr. Chris Miller to associate professor of Bible. Drs. Colman and Kennedy also received tenure.

At a recent meeting of faculty, administrators, and students at People's University in Beijing, China, university officials honored Diane Lichtensteiger '86 for "superior" and "exemplary" work as a teacher of English at the university. A $1,000 award accompanied the commendation, along with five speeches in her honor. This was the first time that People's had so recognized a foreign teacher. Diane was able to share that she "gave God all the credit" for whatever positive things she had done. This is Diane's eighth year as director of Cedarville's program of teaching English at the university. If you are interested in being a part of the Cedarville College English teaching program in China, please contact Dr. Dwayne Frank '60 at 513-766-7791.

Regional Gathering Update

Columbus, Ohio

On January 11, the Alumni Association sponsored a dessert reception at the Tenth Annual National Youth Ministries Conference in Columbus, Ohio. More than 50 alumni and friends gathered following the Wednesday evening general session to renew friendships and to acquaint youth workers with the education available at Cedarville College. A group of 35 Cedarville College students attended the conference as part of the Christian Education for Youth course taught by Dr. Cheryl Fawcett. Nationally-known youth speakers present the general sessions that provide inspiration and information about youth work. Over 300 youth workers, their families, and students attended the conference.

Beijing, China

Alumni gatherings are taking place around the world! In December 1994, Cedarville College professor Dr. Dwayne Frank '60 traveled to China to deliver teaching materials to university English teachers. Dr. Frank and several alumni shared a meal at a Chinese restaurant and enjoyed talking about Cedarville basketball, chapel programs, and other updates. The alumni pictured are a part of Cedarville's Educational Resources and Assistance Program (ERAP) and teach English at People's University or at the Beijing Institute for Light Industry.

Findlay, Ohio

On January 17, over 25 alumni joined other Cedarville fans for the men's varsity basketball game at the University of Findlay. The Cedarville crowd enjoyed watching the Yellow Jackets rout Findlay 116-83, setting an all-time mark for field-goal percentage as they shot 74.6% from the floor. The alumni joined Dr. & Mrs. Don Callan '84H, Dr. Jim Phipps '68, and Doug Miller '85, director of public relations, for an ice cream social after the game. Special thanks are due to Anne Nikles Risser '82, on staff at Findlay, and her husband, Keith '82, for arranging the gathering.

Dr. Elaine Brown '77, assistant professor of health and physical education at Cedarville, led an MIS volleyball team of 12 women to Jamaica for 12 days during the Christmas break. They played area teams and then shared the gospel through skits, singing, testimonies, and devotionals. The team also worked with missionaries in a Sunday School program. In January, Dr. Brown taught a unit on health and physical education to 20 first grade students at Mountain View Elementary School near Hilo, Hawaii. Michelle Nakano '90, the class teacher, played varsity volleyball and tennis at Cedarville.

Mark Womack '83 has served as sports information director of Cedarville College for 12 years. As a vital member of the Athletic Department team, Mark is responsible for the communication and promotion of our athletes' accomplishments. Constantly working with statistics and historical research, Mark holds a wealth of knowledge concerning Cedarville's athletic program. He also provides regular broadcasts for CDR Radio Network with "Yellow Jacket Sports Update," a spot which gives listeners up-to-the-minute sports information. Mark also serves as director of the Cedarville College Open, Cedarville's annual golf tournament. In 1993, Mark was given the Distinguished Service Award by the Alumni Association. Mark and his wife, Amy (Young '80), have three daughters—Amber (8), Aubrey (6), and Alison (3).

CLASS NEWS

60s

Terry Zerby '62 has begun ministering as pastor for Brookside Baptist Church in Seven Hills, Ohio. For more than 20 years, Terry served as music, education, and visitation director of Community Baptist Bible Church in Mansfield, Ohio. Terry and his wife, Sandy (Hammerstrom '62), have two grown sons, Shawn and Daniel.

Jerry '66 and Barbara Unzicker Eaton '64N reside in Rochester, Indiana. Jerry teaches school, while Barbara keeps busy with her three grandchildren. She also works with Jerry in the family business, Eaton Fencing. Jerry and Barbara are active members at First Baptist Church in Mentone. They are also the joyful grandparents of Taylor Alan Eaton, born March 21, 1994. Taylor is the son of Troy '92 and Gennifer Creviston Eaton '93.

Deborah Bush Haffey '68 is associate professor of communication arts and debate coach at Cedarville College. She was named "Ohio's Outstanding Director of Debate" for the 1993-94 season. The Cedarville debate squads have been consistent winners in state and national tournaments in recent years.

Jim Murphy '68 is named in the 1994 edition of Who's Who Among America's Teachers. Honorees are nominated by students who are listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students or The National Dean's List. A former high school math teacher, Jim teaches second grade in the Richfield Public School District and lives in Burnsville, Minnesota. He and his wife, Phyllis (Ackerman '71), are the parents of Michelle Murphy '91.

Evelyn Terrill Hartman '69N is among the 66,500 teachers honored in Who's Who Among America's Teachers 1994. An associate instructor for Butte College, Evelyn teaches English fundamentals, basic math, and GED test prep at the Willows Learning Center in Willows, California. Her English syllabus and teaching strategy, "Poetry as a Teaching Tool," were recently published by Butte College in Charting a New Course—A Reference Guide for College Faculty. Evelyn and her husband, Tyler '72, are the parents of two adult children, Trent and Trinda.

70s

Greg Webster '74 is director of development for Point Loma Nazarene College in San Diego, California. One of his responsibilities was directing the inaugural "Impact America" award banquet in fall 1994. At that banquet, James and Shirley Dobson, alumni of Point Loma Nazarene, were honored with the award. Greg and his wife, Sue, reside in El Cajon, California.

Wayne '75 and Darlene Jones Aldridge '75 have moved to Houston, Texas, where Wayne is a project manager for Roy F. Weston, Inc. Darlene is a substitute teacher for Spring Independent School District. Wayne is a leader in the AWANA program at Berean Baptist Church, and Darlene participates in the choir. Their children—Jared, Philip, and Adrienne—are active in the teen ministry.

Elaine Brown '77 successfully defended her doctoral dissertation at The Ohio State University on December 5, 1994. Her research examined roles and responsibilities of health educators and library science professionals in providing materials for teacher education students. "This research complements courses I am already teaching at Cedarville. I am responsible for the methods courses in health and physical education for elementary education majors." Our heartiest congratulations extend to Dr. Elaine Brown, assistant professor of health and physical education and women's volleyball coach at Cedarville College.

Terry Baker Comers '77 and her husband, Bruce, enjoy three children—James, Katelynn, and Luke. Bruce is the pastor of Pine Hills Baptist Church in Columbus, Ohio.

John Poston '77N has graduated from the United States Air Force's Air War College. He serves as a chaplain in the USAF reserves and at the Grand Rapids Home for Veterans. John and his wife, Jean, live in Grand Rapids, Michigan.

80s

Jeff '80 and Rachael Shedden Bean '81 have moved from Hagerstown, Maryland to Margate, Florida. The Beans are involved in ministry with Coral Ridge Presbyterian Church in Ft. Lauderdale. Jeff is the station manager for the church's radio station, WAFG. Rachael is a production assistant at Coral Ridge Ministries, which produces the weekly television program, "The Coral Ridge Hour," and prime time television specials with Dr. D. James Kennedy.

Elder Inducted Into NAIA Hall Of Fame

From 1959 to 1961, Dr. Bill Elder '63N played basketball for the Cedarville Yellow Jackets. When his parents moved to Birmingham, Alabama, he transferred to Samford University closer to their new home. Reflecting on his time at Cedarville College, Elder states, "I admired Coach [Don] Callan as a good Christian role model. He was a major influence in my decision to be a college basketball coach." Remaining in Alabama, Elder has devoted 26 years of his life to coaching intercollegiate basketball.

For the past eight years, Elder has coached the University of Mobile (Alabama) men's basketball program and has established an impressive 109-78 record. Most recently, the 1993-94 squad had the best regular season record in the nation at 31-1. Under Coach Elder, the University of Mobile has won three Gulf Coast Athletic Conference titles, one NAIA District 30 title and twice advanced to the NAIA National Tournament. But what Coach Elder finds most rewarding about his chosen career is the opportunity to help his players mature and prepare for what they will face later in life. Many of his young ballplayers follow his footsteps and become college coaches themselves.

In recognition for his many achievements, on March 13, 1995 Dr. Bill Elder was inducted into the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) Hall of Fame. The Hall of Fame Award, the association's highest coaching honor, will be presented to Dr. Elder at the NAIA Men's Basketball National Championship banquet in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Bill is quick to share, "Cedarville College will always be close to my heart. Although I attended for only two years, the Christian emphasis and atmosphere was just what I needed during those formative years." It is not difficult for Bill to maintain close ties with Cedarville—1981 graduate Curt Berger is the women's basketball coach and 1983 alum Alan Geist is the assistant athletic director at the University of Mobile.

Bill and his wife, Vivian, live in Mobile, Alabama and attend Cottage Hill Baptist Church. One daughter, Laura (19), is a sophomore at the University of Mobile. Still at home, daughter Lacey (16) is a junior in high school.

Athletic training, a program previously offered as a minor and in place since 1986, recently became a major at Cedarville. The course requisites and a 1,500 hour internship prepares students to meet requirements for certification by the National Athletic Trainers Association and the American Medical Association's Committee on Allied Health Education and Accreditation. According to Dr. Evan Hellwig '84N, assistant professor of health and physical education, "Our graduates in athletic training are finding ready employment in sports medicine clinics across the country as well as entrance to graduate school. One is already head athletic trainer at another college."

World renowned pianist Leon Bates performed for the Cedarville College family on Thursday, February 2, 1995, as part of this year's Artist Series. Bates has performed with many of the major U.S. symphonies and is often invited to perform on the major concert stages around the world.

Tom Hill '87 and his wife, Christin, have settled in Waco, Texas and worship at Highland Baptist Church. As the assistant track and cross country coach at Baylor University, Tom has also been a compliance coordinator for the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA). After graduating from Cedarville, Tom led several international teams to eastern Europe with Athletes in Action (AIA). With a regional AIA office in Waco, he continues to pursue this avenue of ministry. Using the facilities at Baylor to host local and state meets on all levels is a tremendous fund-raising opportunity for AIA. Athletes in Action also directs the parking at Baylor University football games to raise money for their ministry! An avid track and cross country fan herself, Christin is a nurse in the emergency room at Providence Hospital. She is also seeking her paramedic license.

Jeff Leach '87 completed a master's degree in philosophy from the University of Virginia in 1992. Jeff resides in Charlottesville, Virginia, where he owns and operates two businesses. He also hopes to publish a novel in 1995.

Kevin Schleinitz '88 has been promoted to general manager of Chemstation in Columbus, Ohio. He and his wife, Hope, are living in Enon.

Jill Wyse '88 has been named deputy director of the State and Local Government Commission by Ohio Lieutenant Governor Nancy Hollister. The Commission serves as a liaison between local government officials and agencies across the state of Ohio. Jill has worked at the Commission since 1991.

Michelle Hinnergardt Lamb '89 has completed her doctorate in clinical psychology at Indiana State University. She is currently working at White River Psychology in Indianapolis. Michelle and her husband, Mark '89, live in Greenwood, Indiana.

Suzette Ramsey Mossman '89 is the administrator of Cornerstone Christian School in Radcliffe, Iowa. Suzette and her husband, David '88, have settled in Eldora, Iowa.

David Stoner, Jr. '89 graduated from the University of Southern Florida with a master's degree in library and information science. David and his wife, Sara (Tilla '91), reside in Seminole, Florida with their son, David Stoner III (1). Sara is a nurse at Children's Hospital in St. Petersburg.

Miriam Maddox With The Lord

Mrs. Miriam Maddox '73H, associate professor emerita of speech at Cedarville College, went to be with the Lord on December 29, 1994 at the age of 88. Mrs. Maddox taught in the Department of Communication Arts for 29 years and is the only person in the history of the College to have taught past the age of 80.

She came to Cedarville in 1956, when her husband, Dr. Clifford Maddox, became academic dean. The Maddoxes raised academics and culture at the College to a new level. Mrs. Maddox's talents lay not only in speech, etiquette, and drama, but in helping individual students communicate more effectively.

Upon her retirement in 1986, a scholarship fund was established in her honor. The Miriam Maddox Speech Communication Scholarship Award is presented at the annual Honors Day Chapel to a communication arts major "who exhibits high commitment to Christian education and excellence in speech communication." Alumni wishing to remember Mrs. Maddox may contribute to the scholarship fund.

The Board of Trustees has announced the renaming of Maddox Hall to Clifford and Miriam Maddox Hall.

We extend a special thank you to you alumni who called to let us know that your son or daughter is currently a student at Cedarville College. Listed below are a few more second generation students who were not mentioned in the Winter '95 issue of Inspire.

SUMMER STUDIES

on the campus of Cedarville College

June 12 through July 1, 1995

Why Summer Studies?

If you are like many high school students, you are already looking ahead to college. Taking college courses, living on campus, and being on your own will help you to prepare for your transition to college. In just three weeks, you will complete college courses and earn up to six credits toward your college degree!

Who can attend? Christian teens like you!

Juniors in high school (1996 graduates) with a 3.0 (B) grade point average or better.

What classes can I take?

Your choices include:

Principles of Earth and Space Science, The Christian Life,
Introduction to Dramatic Arts, Introduction to Computers,
Civil War and Reconstruction, Racquetball, and Major American Authors

What else will I do during Summer Studies?

Summer Studies alumni cite the close friendships made through the program as one of its greatest benefits. You'll build these bonds through all kinds of activities like field trips, picnics, a day at Kings Island amusement park, prayer meetings, and just hanging out!

What will it cost?

You will pay $148 per credit hour in tuition ($888 for six credits), $275 for room and board, and a $75 fee that covers most of your activities. Books and course fees are extra. Sons or daughters of Cedarville College alumni may qualify for a $740 tuition scholarship for Summer Studies!

How do I apply?

Call 1-800-CEDARVILLE

We will send you an application. But hurry! We need your completed application by May 1. Class size is limited.
